The Importance of spiritual reading

St. Alphonsus Liguori

To a spiritual life the reading of holy books is, perhaps, not less useful than mental prayer. Saint Bernard says that reading instructs at once both in prayer and in the practice of virtue. Hence, he concluded that spiritual reading and prayer are the weapons by which hell is conquered and heaven is won.

We cannot always have access to a spiritual father for counsel in our actions, and particularly in our doubts; but reading will abundantly supply his place by giving us light and direction to escape the illusions of the devil and of our own self-love, and at the same time to submit to the divine will. St. Athanasius used to say that no one is found devoted to the service of God who does not practice spiritual reading. Hence all the founders of religious orders have strongly recommended this holy exercise to their religious. But above all the Apostle, Saint Paul, prescribed spiritual reading to Timothy. "Attend unto reading." (Timothy 4:3). Note the word attend, which signifies that although Timothy, being a Bishop, was greatly occupied with the care of his flock, still the Apostle wished him to attend to the reading of holy books, not in a passing way and for a short time, but regularly and for a considerable time.

The reading of spiritual books is as profitable as the reading of bad books is noxious. The first author of pious books is the Spirit of God, as the author of pernicious writings is the devil. Consider some of the great blessings the reading of spiritual books brings to the soul.

As the reading of bad books fills the mind with worldly and poisonous sentiments, so pious reading fills the soul with holy thoughts and good desires. He that keeps the mind filled with devout thoughts, such as spiritual maxims, and examples of the virtuous actions of the Saints, will, not only during prayer, but at other times also, be accompanied by these thoughts, and by them be kept almost continually united to God. Saint Bernard explains this by a beautiful similitude in his exposition of the words seek and you shall find (Matthew 7:7), when he says, "Seek by reading books of devotion, and you shall find in meditation; for reading, as it were, puts the food in the mouth, which is afterwards chewed by meditation."

The soul that is imbued with holy thoughts in reading is ever and always prepared to banish its internal temptations. Saint Jerome advised his disciple, Salvina: "Endeavour to have ever in your hands a pious book that with this shield you may repel all the arrows of bad thoughts."

Spiritual reading serves to make us see the stains that infect the soul and helps us to remove them. The same Saint Jerome recommends Demetriade to avail herself of spiritual reading as of a mirror. As a mirror exhibits the stains of the face, so holy books show us the defects of the soul. Saint Gregory, speaking of spiritual reading says: "There we perceive the losses we have sustained and the good things we have acquired; our falling back or our progress in virtue."

In the reading of holy books we receive many lights and divine calls. Saint Jerome says that when we pray, we speak to God; but when we read, God speaks to us. St. Ambrose says the same: "We address Him when we pray; We hear Him when we read." In prayer God hears our petitions, but in reading we listen to his voice. Saint Augustine writes that good books are, as it were, so many "love letters" that the Lord sends us. In them He warns of our dangers, teaches us the way of Salvation, animates us to suffer adversity, enlightens us in inflames us with divine love. Whoever, then, desires to acquire Divine Love and to be holy, should often read those letters of paradise. Oh, how many Saints have, by the reading of a spiritual book, been induced to forsake the world and to give themselves to God! St. Augustine, St. Ignatius, St. John Columbino, and many more. "My God," exclaimed St. Augustine, "the examples of Thy servants, when I meditated on them, consumed my tepidity and inflamed me with Thy holy love."

To draw great fruit from spiritual reading:

You should recommend yourself before-hand to God that He may enlighten the mind while you read.

You should read, not in order to acquire learning, or to indulge curiosity, but for the sole purpose of advancing in divine love.

You should read pious books slowly and with attention. +
